Public invited to March 19 free program on endangered Tricolored Blackbird

The public is invited to a free program on the tricolored blackbird, one of California's most imperiled species, at the March 19 meeting of the Sacramento Audubon Society.

Dr. Robert Meese of UC Davis will explore the tricolored's field identification, natural history, and conservation status with a multimedia presentation that includes still images, vid-

Drawing on 10 years of intensive research and monitoring, he'll illustrate the bird's extraordinary foraging and breeding habits, and will give recommendations for sustaining the

The glossy black birds with the red-and-white shoulder patches are found almost exclusively in California. With their numbers declining by 44 percent just since 2011, the State Fish & Wildlife Commission last December approved their emergency listing as an endangered species.

Audubon California recently received a $1.1 million federal grant to try to increase their population.

The 7 p.m. meeting will be at Effie Yeaw Na-ture Center in Ancil Hoffman Park (For directions, see sacnaturecenter.com).

There will be no charge for the program or parking, and no park-entry fee.

Carmichael Kiwanis awards visual and performing arts grants

The Carmichael Kiwanis, in their ongoing efforts to support the Arts in the San Juan Unified School District, have awarded nearly $10,000 in mini-grants to San Juan's Visual and Performing Arts teachers. These funds are the product of nearly 1,000 hours of local Kiwanis members' time selling See's Candies.

Awards are $250 for a single teacher, $500 for a grade lev-el (multiple teachers), and $1,000 for a school. Projects reflect creativity, innovation, and imaginative teaching and learning as they relate to the VAPA and school district initiatives, including: student voice, common core state standards, arts integration and interdisciplinary projects, 21st century learning com-petencies and the "Strategic Plan." Sixteen teachers from 13 schools won the grants that included an Environmental Awareness project through the Arts Fu-sion program at UC Davis, arts integration in both English and mathematics, a stage curtain for Barrett Middle School and other essentials for performance and display of student work. Grant recipient schools included Oakview Elementary, Cottage Elementary, Ottomon Elementary, El Camino High School, Greer Elementary, Mira Loma High School, Bella Vista High School, Barrett Middle School, Mesa Verde High School, Del Campo High School, Del Paso Manor Elementary, Deterding Elementary, and Howe Avenue Elementary.

Grant-funded teachers will be invited to share details of their projects at an upcoming Kiwanis breakfast meeting. Congratulations to San Juan schools for prioritizing artful learning and for providing such rich experiences for students, and thank you to the many members of the local Carmichael Kiwanis Club for supporting these initiatives! Children's bereavement art group celebrates 30 years of service

The Children's Bereavement Art Group is celebrating its 30th anniversary, providing children between the ages of 4 and 17 a safe and creative place in which to express their grief over the death of a loved one. Through this group, which is facilitated by art therapists with extensive backgrounds in childhood grief, children express their thoughts and feelings through a variety of art activities, including drawing and painting.

"We've been able to touch so many lives in the past 30 years," said Peggy Gulshen, board-certified art therapist/marriage and family therapist, CBAG program founder and coordinator. "These children, some of whom are now adults, represent the ability not only to survive a significant loss but to thrive as they reinvest in life."

To date, CBAG has provided support to more than 11,500 children and teens, and their families. The program, which began at Sutter Memorial Hospital in 1985, has a rich history of collaborative partners. The program currently is supported through community donations to Sutter Health Philanthropy. CBAĞ is offered at the Sutter Cancer Center and Sutter Care at Home Roseville Hospice office. CBAG also broadened its scope in 2005 to include school outreach, offering grief education to school staff and grief sessions on campus to elementary, middle and high schools in the greater Sacramento area.

CBAG will host a private celebration in April where current staff, volunteers, program donors/supporters and CBAG participants and their families will have the chance to reconnect, reminisce and reflect. For more information about the program, call 454-6555. Registration for the anniversary celebration on April 4 is available online, http://www.checksutterfirst.org/CBAG30

Former students raise money to purchase 'Gatsby' suit for Del Campo teacher

I hadn't gone twenty yards when I heard my name and Gatsby stepped from between two bushes into the path. [...] I could think of nothing except the luminosity of his pink suit under the moon.

F. Scott Fitzgerald's "The Great Gatsby"

It started as a joke that Jim Jordan repeated year after year in his English class at Del Campo High School.

"When you get rich, I want you to buy me a (Gatsby) suit so I can teach the book wearing it."

Jordan has worked in the San Juan Unified School District since 1978, and estimates that he has taught "The Great Gatsby""no fewer than 50 times."

"It's the book that I've taught over and over again in my career," he said. "It's so deep; it's so rich. I learn something new every time I open those pages."

In 2013, when Baz Luhrmann's "Gatbsy" film starring Leonardo DiCaprio was released, Brooks Brothers launched a Gatbsy-themed clothing line. Months later, while visiting Los Angeles, Jordan ran across the suit at a Brooks Brothers store. The jacket alone was over $700; the pants and shirt were hundreds more.

Jim Jordan in suit Even so, he was charmed, and posted the photo on Facebook. Initially, he didn't get much of a response. But when he reposted it a few months later, a handful of former students took notice.

Amy Diemer and James Chou, both 1992 Del Campo graduates who had been in Jordan's English class and on his yearbook staff, messaged one another and decided to launch a crowdfunding campaign.

"Unfortunately a teacher's salary is not enough to afford him the same duds as a bootlegging millionaire, so he needs our help," read the "Jim 'Gatsby' Jordan Endeavor" page. "The more we fund, the pinker Mr. Jordan gets."

Diemer, now a social worker who owns a geriatric care management business, said she's never forgotten Jordan's class, or his love for F. Scott Fitzgerald, and wanted to give back.

"It was not lost on any of us what a favorite of his it was his own passion for the book," she said. "All the books we read in his classes, we got so immersed."

Chou, now a doctor of internal medicine, agreed.

"This was a teacher that's done so much for so many students," he said.

In a few weeks, the campaign raised $1389 from more than 40 donors – former students, friends and colleagues.

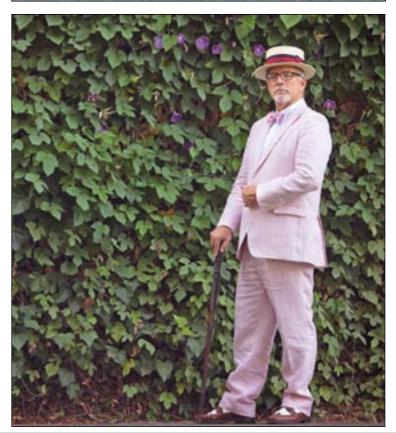

"To have 40 people in your life talking about what you're doing in the classroom and celebrating it – it doesn't get any better than that," Jordan said.

He debuted the suit at a luncheon last spring, and wore it during AP testing. He took professional portraits, accessorizing with a bowtie, straw hat and cane. And now, Jordan will wear the suit each year while teaching "The Great Gatsby."

Diemer said she'll never forget seeing the first photo of him wearing the suit.

"He was so giddy. It was very sweet," she said. "What I loved about it most – there are so many people in your life that have such a profound impact that you never really thank. This was a concrete way to thank him."

And while Jay Gatsby's clothing in the novel betrays his decadence and showiness, Jordan's suit has a different meaning. "He can physically wear our gratitude," Diemer said.

Family Night Out to feature outspoken tobacco insider

San Juan Unified is host-ing a free Family Night for all ages on Thursday, March 12. The featured speaker will be Victor J. DeNoble, Ph.D.

Dr. DeNoble was recruited to develop a safer cigarette for Phillip Morris in the 1980s. Eventually, he became the first whistle-blower to testify before congress and a key witness in the federal government's investigation into the tobacco industry's research practices.

Learn firsthand from Dr. DeNoble about the new emerging products that tobacco companies are marketing to minors and participate in a discussion about marijuana and other drugs and how they affect the brain. According to the Center for Disease Control, nearly a quarter of a million youth who never had an interest in cigarettes used electronic cigarettes in 2013. Studies also show that youth who use e-cigarettes are twice as likely to become addicted and use conventional cigarettes at some point.

Light refreshments and a prize drawing for students will be provided. When: 6:30-8 p.m. Thursday, March 12 Where: Deterding Elementary, 6000 Stanley Ave, Carmichael Cost: Free

On Tuesday, Feb. 24, (also 3,226 feral cats and more than World Spay Day 2015) the 900 pit bulls, both of which historically have appeared in high numbers in local shelters.

The 4,000-square-foot clinic has space for five spay or performed in each suite and the clinic generally does two at a time. The clinic has two operating suites, a large prep area, three holding areas, plus a long hallway that is used to house feral cats in their capture cages, lobby, an exam room, an xray room, four office areas, a laundry room and a pharmacy.

The need for a special spay and neuter clinic is significant since cats and dogs can produce from eight to 16 babies a year, and six months later, the babies can do the same.

Aside from the relatively or the problem of homeless new spay and neuter clinic, the SSPCA has recently added a columbarium (a place for pets' cremated remains) and has plans to build a new receiving quality, high-volume spay/neu- area for housing incoming cats ter clinic. In 2014, more than and dogs and a full service veterinary clinic for those that fithrough the clinic, including nancially need assistance.

Sacramento Steampunk Society emporium and swap meet at Great Escape Games

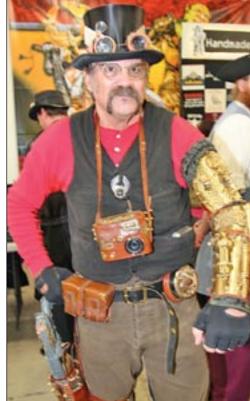

Photos by STEPHEN CROWLEY

The Sacramento Steampunk Society held an emporium and swap meet on Saturday, Feb. 21, at Great Escape Games on Howe Avenue. People got a chance to see what steampunk is all about and visit with an estimated dozens of vendors. The emporium was an artists' bazaar with a steampunk flair, featuring artisans selling items they have made, including costumes, jewelry, leatherwork, books, and hats.

estate recovery March 14: The Older Women's League (OWL) Sacramento Capitol will present a special program at 11 a.m. on the Medi-Cal Estate Recovery process and low-income Californians aged 55 years and older. Special Guest Speaker Linda Nguy, a Legislative Advocate working with Western Center on Law and Poverty (WCLP) will discuss Medi-Cal Recovery in Califor nia, the ramifications for Californians aged 55 years and older who recently qualified fo Medi-Cal subsidies as part of health care reform, and review SB 33 authored by Senator Ed Hernandez, O.D. (D-West Covina) that seeks to limit estate recovery. This free educational program will be located at the E.M. Hart Senior Center, 915 27th St. The State may seek to be reimbursed for benefits paid after a Medi-Cal beneficiary's death by filing a claim against the estate of an individual who was 55 years of age or older at the time he or she received Medi-Cal benefits. Although there are exceptions, it is important for Medi-Cal beneficiaries (aged 55 vears and older) to have an understanding about estate claims of this type. For more information on this issue, you can attend the program on March 14th. or visit California Advocates for Nursing Home Reform (CANHR) at www.canhr.org, or call the CANHR hotline (800) 474-1116. A fact sheet developed by WCLP and CANHR is available on OWL's website at http://www owlca.org/uploads.. The program is open to all and refreshments will be served. Call OWL Cap at 832-6863 for more information, or email us at owlcap@gmail.com, or visit www.owlca.org. Like us Facebook and

Exciting New World of Implant Supported Dentures

. Has the Security Of a Fixed Bridge!

 Easier to Maintain Good Oral Hygiene

There are millions of people in the US who are edentulous (meaning without teeth) who struggle daily with dentures. A majority suffer from discomfort as a result of loose or ill-fitting dentures. Many prosthetic wearers simply withdraw from any type of social engagement as a result of having to wear their dentures.

Lower dentures almost never fit properly. They are loose fitting due to less surface area which can't create a suction, shrinking gum tissue, and bone loss, which can cause irritation in the mouth, sores and pain. The only relief is using sticky dental adhesive to help it, but it is very messy, hard to clean off, and needs multiple applications throughout

Upper dentures are better than lower dentures due to a suction in the upper palate that keeps the denture in place. However, having the palate covered reduces the tastes of foods and the ability to tell the temperature of foods.

Partial Dentures can be a source of discomfort due to lack of supporting teeth or an ill fitting partial. Partials also use clasps to secure to existing teeth which can be noticeable and can put added pressure to the existing tooth.

Now there is a solution to these issues: Implants with "Snap On" Dentures!

Whether you are new to dentures or have worn them for years, a snap on denture is a great solution to uncomfortable chewing and slippery painful dentures. There are several types of snap on dentures available, including snap on partials. We make your denture or partial fit and function in harmony with the space available in your mouth, and give custom attention to the delicate fabrication of your snap on denture.

If you already wear a conventional denture or partial denture, we can sometimes use your denture to accommodate the snaps to fit on your new dental implants.

If you are interested in learning more about improving your quality of life with an implant retained snap on denture or partial, please contact us for a FREE CONSULTATION today!
