Discovery Museum Science & Space Cenfer Calendar

Creative Moon Cookies - Saturday and Sunday, December 3 and 4 In 2009, NASA verified the existence of water ice on the moon. This weekend, each child frosts a cookie and adds "sugar ice". Decorate this delicious treat and enjoy outer space fun in our Space Quest exhibit. Wash the cookie down with Tang- the drink of astronauts. Bring a camera for some photo shots! Planetarium shows are at 1 and 3 p.m. are included with admission (ages 4 and above only).

Food Factor Robot Challenge - Saturday and Sunday, December 10 and 11 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.: Science Discovery activities 12:30 to 4 p.m. The Discovery Museum Science and Space Center is celebrating 60 years of sensational science milestones. In the last ten years, there has been great advancement in food safety. This year the Museum's FIRST* LEGO League robotics team competed in the challenge, Food Factor. Visit the museum on this weekend to learn about their project (presentations at noon and 2 p.m.). Complete a coloring sheet! For a $3 fee, guests have 30 minutes to add a special feature to a pre-built Lego Mindstorms NXT sumobot. After the feature is added, the sumobot competes against the Museum's FLL Robotics Team's sumobot. Planetarium shows are at 1 and 3 p.m. are included with admission (ages 4 and above only).

Cruisin' on Mars - Saturday and Sunday, December 17 and 18, 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The Discovery Museum Science and Space Center is celebrating 60 years of sensational science milestones. In 2003, NASA selected two exploration rovers to go to Mars-Spirit and Opportunity. Working together, families build a Mars scene with a "rover" model and pretend Mars rocks. Remember to visit the Mars corner in our Space Quest exhibit. Planetarium shows at 1 and 3 p.m. are included with admission (ages 4 and above only) and are highlighting the science of the Mars rovers and the planet itself.

The Museum opens at 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and Science Discovery activities are 12:30 to 4 p.m. Discovery Museum Science & Space Center is located at 3615 Auburn Boulevard, Sacramento. Admission is $6 adults (18+), $5 seniors (60+), $5 teens (13-17), $4 children (4-12), $0 children (3 and under). Ages appropriate for 4 to 12 years old. MAKE IT YOURSELF!

his felt Christmas tree softie craft for kids is simple enough for even beginner sewers to create a really nice Christmas decoration - and the possibilities for decoration are endless!

You will need:

Green felt (sparkle felt if you an find it!), needle and thread, ribbon (optional), fabric glue, decorations (buttons, sequins, ribbons etc). toy stuffing

You will need to:

Cut 2 tree shapes from green felt or a simple triangle will do just fine. If you plan on hanging the tree, cut a length of ribbon and slip the ends between the two felt trees so the ribbon hangs from the top of the tree.

With a small running stitch, sew the trees together. Leave a gap with which to stuff the tree. Fill the tree with toy stuffing. Be careful not to overfill, as the tree should sit fairly flat. Sew the gap closed and glue on the decorations!

Snowman craft

his adorable snowman craft is a perfect Christmas or winter craft for kids of all ages - although younger children may need help and supervision.

You will need:

A 6cm polystyrene ball, a 4cm polystyrene ball, a baby sock, circle stickers, pipe cleaner (chenille stems), scrap of orange craft foam or card, card for base, glue.

You will need fo:

Cut out a circle of card. Glue the larger ball onto the card and the smaller ball on top. A hot glue gun is best for this so best if an adult prepares this ahead of time. Make the hat by cutting through the sock at the heel. Tie the cut end with a small piece of yarn and slip the ankle cuff over the head. Cut diagonally across the remainder of the sock from the cut edge to the toe, then open it out so you have a strip of fabric. Tie this around the snowman as a scarf. Add stickers as eyes, mouth and buttons and stick on a scrap of foam as a carrot nose.

To make the arms, cut the pipe cleaner into 3 pieces. Cut one of the pieces in half again. Twist one of the smaller pieces around a longer piece to make the hand. Push the arm into the snowman (adult help may be required). Repeat with the other arm.

felt christmas Tree Soffie ¿ Paper Plate Rudolph sn't this Rudolph The Red-Nosed Reindeer handsome? He makes a lovely Christmas display and is an easy Christmas craft for all ages.

You will need:

A small paper plate, a large paper plate, brown paint, brown card, red pompom, 2 large wiggle eyes, brown pipe cleaners (chenille stems), glue

You will need to:

Paint the plates brown and leave to dry. Glue the plates together along the rim. The small plate is the head, the large is the body. Cut four rectangles of card and glue these along the back of the large plate to form the legs. On the small plate, glue a red pompom nose and the two eyes and draw on a mouth. Finally twist some pipe cleaners into antler shapes (maybe 3 pipe cleaners for each antler) and stick to the top of the head.

Window Angel Craft

his window angels make a lovely Christmas craft for kids that will help you decorate your windows for the holidays! They are fun to make and very pretty, too.

You will need:

Skin tone card, thread or wool (yarn), gold tissue paper, gold pen, tracing paper, gold pipecleaner (chenille stem), felt tip pens, glue stick

You will need to:

Cut a heart shape from tracing paper for your angel's wings. Decorate with gold pen. Cut a triangle from gold tissue paper, glue the triangle onto the tissue paper wings. Cut a circle from skin tone card and glue it to the point of the triangle. Cut strands of wool for the angel's hair, and glue on. Fold the pipecleaner in half and form a loop in the center. Twist the ends together and stick to the back of the head. This is your halo. Finish by drawing on a face.

Stick to your window and watch the winter sun shine through and make her sparkle!

By Carmel L. Mooney

BIG BEAR LAKE

One of California's best places for snow much family fun is Big Bear Lake, California. We love it more each time we go. There's so much to do once you arrive on "Big Bear time."

Even though Big Bear has some of the best skiing and snowboarding in the state, with virtually no lines, the pinnacle of our most recent trip was a 8 wheel drive off road adventure. It was more than spectacular to experience the back country of the San Bernardino mountains from a heavy duty off-road vehicle. Our tour with Big Bear Off Road Adventures was nothing less than fabulous and absolutely unforgettable, taking us to breathtaking vistas and allowing us a behind the scenes perspective on the beauty that is so unique to Big Bear.

We even got to "off-road it" and explore an area where Bonanza was filmed many years ago. The abilities of the off road vehicle allowed our family to traverse thick, virgin powder and to see winter wonderland sights that were literally inaccessible to anyone else. It's not just a ride; it's an adventure!

Right before we went off-road, we even stopped at Maggio's Pizza and got the best "to go" salads and calzones we could have ever dreamed of. Fresh, delicious ingredients made our lunch stand out as truly memorable.

We love skiing at Big Bear. Friendliness and no stress are what make skiing at Big Bear a sheer delight. Much more than just a skiing and snowboarding destination, it has all the bases covered when it comes to an all inclusive snowy family destination that rivals Tahoe or Vail. Snow Summit and Bear Mountain visitors will appreciate the unique flavor with beautifully manicured slopes, friendly and competent instructors, and the feeling that you've stepped back in to a simpler day when a family could spend more time skiing and less time waiting to have fun.

Moonridge Park is a wonderful zoo/ animal park open all year so a family can really enjoy seeing animals in their natural winter environment. It's exhilarating to actually see a snow leopard romping in the snow. or a bear family frolicking in fresh powder.

Try a beginners snow shoe tour at the Big Bear Discovery Center, or an afternoon on the Alpine Slide or tubing. The "snow much fun" options are virtually endless.

Before you retreat back to a comfy cabin, you'll want to explore the wonderful dining in Big Bear. Again, lots of choices. Sonora Cantina serves great food and great family ambiance at reasonable prices, and with good portions. The Himalayan is the only restaurant in Big Bear to offer Indian and Nepalese food. It is outstanding. With delicious sauces, warm and delicious Naan, Tandoori entrees, and using only the freshest herbs and ingredients, this place is healthy and wonderful. Even our tween loved every bite. It's family operated and provides great family food with exotic flavors. It's the perfect place to warm up with remarkably good and filling food after a day in the snow.

Mountain West Vacation Rentals provided us the ideal location from which to get the most out of our delightful Big Bear Adventure. Our cabin was clean, cozy, well-appointed and central to all the fun.

We enjoyed games, movies, a telescope, a wonderfully stocked kitchen, extra blankets, and nice, rock fireplace. It truly felt like a home away from home. That's so important when you travel with a family and are go, go, go with lots to do and see. The folks there were friendly and helpful. It's a top notch vacation rental operation.

Take note that Big Bear Lake is less than two hours from Disneyland and LAX or Orange County airport. With the great specials Southwest airlines is offering along with some fantastic specials Disneyland is running, its easy to combine the two into an affordable and frugal all-in-one southern California family vacation.

When visiting Big Bear Lake in the winter, remember that mountain weather can change quickly so stay informed of chain control warnings. For road conditions call: 1-800-427-ROAD Plan your next Snow-fari to Big Bear Lake! www. bigbear.com

CARNAVAL DE QUEBEC

Every year thousands of visitors from around the world come to Quebec City to enjoy the festivities of one of the world's most enormous family friendly winter festivals. Quebec Winter Carnival is ranked among the world's top ten best winter festivals and is considered one of the world's 1000 must-see destinations.

Parades, rides, attractions, sporting events, dog sledding, dining, ice sculptures, ice buildings, skating, skiing, snow shoeing and more create a world class vacation destination in one of North America's most majestic cities.

Flying into Quebec City at Jean-Lesage International Airport is hassle free.

The magical and historical city of Quebec is transformed into a winter wonderland worthy of a movie or fairy tale. Music, events, dining and activities abound that celebrate Carnaval. Bonhomme, the snowman, is the mascot whom children revel in spotting and meeting throughout the city during the Carnaval festivities.

We stayed at the Hilton Quebec which was within walking distance of everything the picturesque city offers. This proved invaluable.

We enjoyed dog sled races and show shoe races and live bands on the Plains of Abraham. The Carnaval Day Parade rivals the Macy's Parade and is a must see with dozens of gigantic inflatable characters including Bonhomme.

Also one magical evening we were enchanted by a lovely ice skating session just blocks from our hotel at Place D'Youville where families with kids of all ages skate under gently falling snow to music.

Bonhomme arrived and the kids went wild with excitement. It was like a scene out of the movie with the beautiful and historic buildings and lights framing the rink.

One highlight was a guided Snowshoer's Walk on the Plains of Abraham where our entertaining guide dressed in period costume, narrated and sang with us while weaving a tale of the history of the area.

Just a few beautiful miles from Quebec City is Le Nordique a gorgeous spa retreat where visitors can enjoy massages, hydrotherapy pools and more, all amongst majestic mountain backdrops and frozen rivers and lakes.

A beautiful hotel property nearby, Le Manoir du Lac Delage offers sumptuous meals and gorgeous views. We spent the afternoon eating a simply wonderful lunch and partaking in a fun outdoor activity called Rand Orientation where, on snowshoe, participants hunt for markers in the forest from coordinate clues and a compass. It was a wonderful way to see the back country and exercise while testing our skills.

Also nearby is the Wendake nation's hotel and museum. Home of the first inhabitants of the Americas, this village is very intriguing. The four star hotel, Hotel-Musee Premieres Nations, blends tradition and culture of the Wendake native people. The food is a cultural experience where delicious native foods like smoked sturgeon and seal are extraordinary. And home baked breads made by native grains like bannique bread made with wild berry corn and flour are tantalizing. The foods are prepared by native peoples or by elders using generations-old techniques. Local cheese and locally crafted adult beverages for mom and dad, make this so unique and delightful. Even the herbs used to prepare the foods, over 90 of them, are locally produced.

The entire community is full of historic and educational buildings and a walking tour is a must..

Also just outside the city of Quebec we enjoyed Montmorency Falls Park where we took the grand cable car ride up the mountain to a spectacular historical and natural wonder. These falls are higher than Niagra Falls and simply amazing. www.carnaval.qc.ca

Another novelty of the Quebec City area is the Hotel de Glace just a few miles form the city. Every year, for less than three months, a wonder of frozen water brings families from around the world into a mesmerizing world of sleeted chandeliers, indoor polar slide, ornate frozen furniture, and refrigerated artistry.

In just a matter of weeks this engineered spectacle is re-designed and re-constructed each winter season from hundreds of tons of ice and tens of thousands of pounds of packed snow.

No two years are alike as several dozen uniquely themed rooms and suites, and a glacial nightclub create an unforgettable lodging experience created for brave adventure-seeking families looking to be awed for a day visit or for a more adventurous overnight stay.

From the moment they enter this aesthetic spectacle, guests are taken into another realm of beauty and tranquility as light plays a visual extravaganza on the eye with colors, textures, and lighting.

For those brave enough to take the class and prepare adequately, sleeping in the Hotel de Glace is successful only with the help of arctic rated sleeping bags, and meticulously planned presleeping organization. If sleeping in a room where cell phones freeze, cameras malfunction, and even boots and sweaters must be protected, sounds doable, get ready to slumber, or not, on top of a mattress placed on a block of ice as a bed foundation.

Upon arrival, and before entering the ice hotel, families warm up in the new, separate, and heated Entrance Pavilion to purchase tickets. There the North Face hosts a boutique which promises your last chance at cold weather gear before entry. Having entered, guests can access the Celsius Pavilion where soups, sandwiches, light fare, and beverages can be enjoyed in the new light snack area. Locker rooms are offered as most overnight guests do take the preparation course seriously which teaches them to raise their core body temperature before bed by indulging in the spas and sauna in a methodical manner, right before turning in. Most personal items are left in the lockers or back at the Sheraton as they would freeze in the rooms.

www.hoteldeglace-canada.com - The Hotel de Glace partners with the Four Points by Sheraton Quebec about a mile away. Check-ins take place through the Sheraton, where typical hotel amenities, and warmth are only a 2-3 minute complimentary shuttle away and a warm and cozy room is waiting, just in case. As locals say, "There is no shame in not making it through the night."

Overnighting parents at the ice hotel can enjoy an ice cocktail in the Ice Bar. Guests are provided complete sleeping equipment, access to the hot tubs and sauna area, a hot wake-up beverage, and breakfast.

Some suites at the Hotel de Glace even boast fireplaces that are strictly for ambiance and eye appeal, since they are specially designed to not emit heat.

In order for the arctic sleeping bags to function correctly one must wear the correct synthetic fibers and socks and have clean, dry, and unworn clothes separately reserved just for sleeping, as moisture is the enemy.

One amazing attribute is the extreme insulation and acoustic property of the ice structure. Even with the blaring music from the disco, the suites and rooms are supremely quiet and serenely peaceful at night. So quiet in fact, that some guests comment on the eerie stillness, even with no doors on the rooms.

A day or early evening visit and tour may be more enjoyable for most. The crystalline ice sculptures and intricately designed walls, indoor ice slide, bars, and discotheque are an unforgettable sight to see and experience. In fact, over a half million visitors have experienced this wonder just since 2001.

GRANLIBAKKEN

Granlibakken Lake Tahoe Conference Center and Lodge offers a wonderful lowprofile, relaxing way to experience skiing and snow fun in the beautiful Sierra Nevada, without crowds, lines, and noise.

In a class all its own, Granlibakken provides a serene, high country, alpine setting for families to dine, ski, snowboard, sled, snowshoe, and unwind in a peaceful, unpretentious, tranquil, mountain setting.

The first thing you will notice upon arrival is that a warm and welcoming staff provides first class hospitality in a down-to-earth fashion.

Plan to dine in the lovely Cedar House restaurant in the main lodge. Daily specials change but delicious signature specialties like the flat iron steak, authentic German schnitzel with potato pancakes, fish and chips, and generous helpings of homemade spaghetti will help you fuel properly for the next day's activities.

The desserts are delicious... A talented musician, www.baronvonremmel.com, will serenade your clan in this lovely rustic, timber-built restaurant, where a blazing fireplace and full bar only add to the après ski ambiance. Kids love to dance and sing with the performer and a great time is had by all.

You won't want to miss an opportunity to unwind in the huge outdoor spa or heated outdoor pool, framed by a snowy backdrop and blanketed by the stars. After warming up in the sauna you'll probably choose to retreat back to your suite or condo to enjoy a relaxing board game or movie in front of your own crackling fire.

Get a good night's sleep so you don't miss the delicious buffet breakfast offered each morning. The fare changes daily but offers satisfying staples like omelets, bacon, sausage, hot cereal, an array of fresh fruit and berries, pastries, yogurts and more. Famous bread pudding, quiche Lorraine, cheese blintzes along with quality coffees and teas make this a superb way to begin the day.

After prepping for the day ahead with breakfast, it's time to decide what to do first.

Beautiful Quebec.

Located on 74 pristine wooded acres, Granlibakken offers groomed snowshoe trails, cross country trails, its own private ski hill, sledding hill, full rentals, lessons, and everything you'd find at a larger ski resort but on a smaller and much more intimate scale. The ski staff is helpful, patient, and knowledgeable. The ski instructors are excellent with children. If you've never skied or snowboarded or even if it's just been a long time and you need a refresher, a private or group lesson with one of the highly qualified instructors, can be the added boost you need. This is the perfect place for beginners.

At the bottom of the ski hill there's even a small Ski Hut restaurant, serving excellent fresh fare you might not expect. Outstanding freshly hand-made burritos, tacos, chili, guacamole, freshly-made chips, homemade soup and a dozen other choices will both surprise and satisfy your exercise-induced hunger pangs. The portions are positively huge and priced reasonably.

Should you decide that more challenging skiing or snowboarding is in order, Granlibakken partners with Homewood, Alpine Meadows, Mt. Rose, Northstar at Tahoe, Sierra at Tahoe, Squaw Valley USA, and Sugar Bowl to offer unbelievably inexpensive cooperative ski packages where you can stay at Granlibakken to enjoy the low key quietude, yet ski at these larger giants for greater challenge. Packages starting around $100 will get you the best of both worlds plus a shuttle to these neighboring resorts.

The lodging at Granlibakken offers condos, townhouses, studios, suites, and varying types, with many plans offering full kitchens. This makes an environment perfect for several families to vacation together or for a winter family reunion. High speed Internet, spa quality toiletries, and daily housekeeping service all add to the comfort.

For nearly a century, Granlibakken has had a fascinating history with ties to the Olympics and much of the heritage of Lake Tahoe.

This gem may be small in comparison to some of the larger Tahoe area ski resorts but is big on hospitality, quality, and serenity. Unless you're seeking the hustle and bustle, noise, busyness, and excitement of the gigantic neighboring resorts, you will be pleased with every facet of this hidden treasure. Good things really do come in small packages.

Who wrote That?

The Creators of Your Child's Favorite BooksFeaturing Bruce HaleBy Patricia M. Newman

n my head, there are pictures of what you have written. When I read your books and I stop, I always think that I had the TV on." –Bridget M.

In fourth or fifth grade, Bruce Hale once told his pal nicknamed Billy the Kid that he wanted to be a children's author—an about-face for a child who didn't like to read before third grade. "I was running around causing trouble," Hale says of his high-activity level. "[Although] I was into stories since I was really young. My dad was an amazing storyteller." One day, the Hale family television died. "It was a sad occasion," he says. His desperate parents read Edgar Rice Burroughs' Tarzan of the Apes to him, and Hale was hooked. He and his pal Billy climbed their favorite tree to read classics such as The Wind in the Willows, Mad Magazine, and later The Hobbit and the Lord of the Rings Trilogy.

Hale grew up in Southern California, and moved to Japan to write, cartoon, and teach English. "I used Simon and Garfunkel and The Beatles songs as my text," he says about his teaching experience. After a couple of years, Hale flew to Hawaii to crew aboard a boat in the South Pacific, but fell in love with Hawaii and stayed for eight years until he moved to his current home in Santa Barbara, California.

While in Hawaii he self-published a few picture books, but did not find his passion until he came up with the idea for the Chet Gecko series. A film noir buff, Hale easily slid into the hard-boiled detective voice that makes the series popular with kids, and a gecko as a main character seemed logical for an author in Hawaii. "I gave myself permission to be goofy," he says, but he was two books into the series before he hit on the idea to parody his favorite film noir titles, e.g. This Gum for Hire and The Malted Falcon. Unknowingly, Hale launched a competition between friends and family members who submitted their title ideas to him. In order for him to use the title it had to make him smile and be a close enough tie to the original film for people to get it.

"I love the Chet Gecko books. I bet even my grandfather would love them, and he's dead." -Federico M.

Hale admits that his first Chet Gecko manuscript was long on voice and character, but short on structural development. The initial concept changed from easy reader to middle grade novel, with his editor providing the necessary instruction for constructing a successful mystery. With the release of The Malted Falcon, an Edgar Award nominee, Hale says, "I was really hitting my stride with the series."

An experienced cartoon artist, Hale conceived Chet Gecko's look. His cartoon style worked well for the interior art in the books, but the covers required a fully-dimensional commercial style for which the publisher contracted another artist.

The Underwhere series is part narrative, part graphic novel about a world beneath our own where the inhabitants wear their underwear outside their clothes. Hale draws on past experience with film scripts to make the dialogue as terse as possible. Although Hale read comics as a child, his cartooning experience wasn't quite right for the series, so a professional comic expert was hired to complete the graphic part of the books. "I didn't realize it at the time," Hale says, "but as a kid I read Edgar Rice Burroughs' books about Pellucidar—a world at the center of our world—and that must have gone deep into my subconscious." After the release of the second Underwhere title, Hale happened across one of the Burroughs' books. "Ah-ha! That's what I was doing. It was a completely unconscious homage."

Hale recharges his creative batteries with hikes, rambles on the beach, movies, books, and music. He sings tenor with Latin and a cappella jazz groups to shift the energy to a different part of his brain, so when he returns to writing, fresh ideas pour out. In school visits, Hale encourages students to express themselves creatively. "Creative intelligence is not always emphasized in schools...There's some sort of alchemy that happens when you express yourself creatively. It feeds a deeper part of you."

Although Hale bows to the demands of adulthood, he says, "There's a part of me that never evolved past twelve years old...I'm plugged into what works and what doesn't." Hale attempts to find the fun in everything he does, and his books are his proof.

"Without your books sparking my interest in reading, I would have never finished the likes of To Kill a Mockingbird, The Merchant of Venice, or Of Mice and Men." - William M. (high school sophomore)

THE BOOK REPORT If's Almost Christmas!

By Connie Goldsmith

A re you having a hard time finding that last-minute gift for a friend's child, a favorite nephew or niece? Look no further than your local bookstore. Think about making books part of your Christmas tradition. You're sure to find books to delight each discerning munchkin. Books often live on to become cherished memories, unlike many toys that break in a day or two. Check out the feast of Christmas books available this season.

"The Little Christmas Elf," by Nikki Shannon Smith, illustrated by Susan Mitchell. (Little Golden Books). Did you grow up with Little Golden Books? Do you know many of your old favorites are still around and new ones are always being added? In this new story, the littlest elf Nina is working on her first toy. Santa shows up at the elf cottage with his sleigh to collect the toys, but Nina couldn't finish her teddy bear in time. She stays up late into the night to finish the bear and it's a good thing she did! For Santa is short one present for a very new baby. "A gift for the littlest baby from the littlest elf!" says Santa. This sweetly tender story feels like a Little Golden classic already and the gentle art evokes the happiest of childhood memories.

"Oh, What a Christmas," by Michael Garland. (Scholastic). Santa sets off as usual from the North Pole with his reindeer and a sleigh filled with toys. But when the harness breaks, what do the reindeer do? They streak off into the night leaving Santa and the sleigh to careen down a hill and crash into a barn. One sleepy sheep peeks out at Santa, followed by cows, goats, pigs, and an old dog. Santa will not fail in his duty to deliver gifts to the world's children. With a wiggle of his magical nose, he harnesses the surprised barnyard animals to his sleigh and flies into the night. One little boy can't believe his eyes when he spies the barnyard creatures pulling Santa's sleigh! Filled with brilliant Christmas colors and glowing golden highlights, this humorous story is a blast to read aloud. The kids are sure to demand nightly readings long after the holiday passes. * Reviewer's pick of the month*

MICHAEL GARLAND

"The Twelve Days of Christmas," by Laurel Long. (Dial). Each Christmas brings at least one new rendition of this old favorite lovingly drawn by a talented artist. This version is perhaps the most beautiful in recent years. The lush art suggests a medieval countryside with distant hillside castles, by turns softly glorious and bluely mysterious. As per tradition, previous gifts are included on the next day's page. See whose eyes are sharp enough to spot the hidden treasures (front and end papers hold clues). The final double-page spread where the true loves meet is exquisite. This is not just a children's book. It makes an outstanding holiday coffee table book or a gift for anyone who loves this two-hundred-year old English Christmas carol.

"Christmas in the Mouse House," by Maggie Kneen. (Templar Books). This adorable book is double fun. It's Christmas Eve at the Mouse house but Papa hid the tree ornaments – twelve golden stars. The Mouse siblings join together to search the charming cottage for the stars. Grandpa suggests the kids make their own ornaments. The little mice open doors, cupboards, windows, clocks, and books. Sometimes they find a gold star; sometimes they find other things they can decorate the tree with. Each spread shows a different room: kitchen, bedroom, dining room, and nursery. Your own little ones will have fun searching for the stars and finding unexpected treasures as well. Fold outs, pop-ups, lift-the-flaps, this book is a feast for the eyes.

"Can You See What I See? Toyland Express," by Walter Wick. (Scholastic). This is the newest in the best-selling series of search-and-find adventures by talented photographer and author Walter Wick. This story follows the life of a wooden toy train set from workshop through several scenarios. First, the trains are pictured in the window of a toy store, then as a gift to a lucky child. They pass through years of playtime and end up in an attic as the child grows up. Fortunately, our lovely train set is rescued at a yard sale and once more returned to its former beauty. The hidden objects are tricky to find. Younger children will need guidance to find many of them. Train lovers of all ages will enjoy this poignant story and its visual challenges.

Connie Goldsmith (www.conniegoldsmith.com) lives in Carmichael where she writes for adults and children. Her newest nonfiction juvenile books, "Battling Malaria: on the Front Lines Against a Global Killer," and "Leukemia," one of the USA Today Health Reports series, recently came out. Her books can be found in school and public libraries, and at online booksellers.

Dinomazes

hey're ginormous! Two things kids love--dinosaurs and mazes--"DinoMazes "is a one-of-a-kind collection of 31 super-sized, colossal fossil mazes. It is hours and hours of fun that spans hundreds of millions of years. Created by Elizabeth Carpenter, Mazeology founder and author of the award-winning "Mummy Mazes," "DinoMazes "features several new mazes and redrawn original mazes.Work your way through the skeletons of a Stegosaurus, Velociraptor, T. Rex, Triceratops, plus giant sloths and a saber-toothed tiger. Discover the earliest known turtle, Proganochelys--unable to retract its head, it grew fierce spikes on its neck--and Acanthostega, an ancient "fish" with feet instead of fins. The dazzling illustrated mazes are challenging--start at a tail, find your way through the rib cage, and exit at the mouth. Interspersed are miniature speed mazes--how fast can you get through the Styracosaurus head? Each maze comes with sidebars and captions about the animal, including meaning of the name, when the creature lived, and its lifestyle and habitat. And once completed, kids can decorate and color them. The pages tear out as 12" x 171/2" posters, ready to be displayed.

Suffer Creek old-fashioned Christmas

njoy Victorian splendor this Holiday Season in historic Sutter Creek, with its annual Old Fashioned Christmas Open House celebration. The streets of Historic Sutter Creek come alive with Christmas spirit as they are transformed to an era gone by with Charles Dickens characters and carolers in period costume, strolling along the beautifully lit streets of this magical Gold Rush Town.

Friday Night, at around 6 pm, Santa and Mrs. Claus will arrive in their sleigh to light the community Christmas tree next to City Hall. On Main Street the shopkeepers will be open late to offer a warm and friendly Open House, with snacks, refreshments, and wonderful displays of unique items ready for your Christmas List. And for the children, free photos with Santa will be available inside the Methodist Church where Santa will hear their Christmas wishes. Arts and crafts will also be available there along with homemade cookies and hot cider. The whole community is invited to share in the holiday fun on Friday evening from 5 until 9 p.m.

The merriment continues on Saturday with holiday music, festive shopping, and Charles Dickens characters strolling down the street. In the evening, at 7 p.m. is the Las Posadas Candlelight Walk. The public is invited to participate in this beautiful reenactment of Joseph and Mary's journey to Bethlehem. The parade will begin at the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church on Spanish Street where Mary will mount a donkey and she and Joseph will process down historic and beautiful Spanish Street, lined with flickering luminaries, and then onto Main Street as they go from Inn to Inn looking for shelter. Narrators will retell the familiar story and musicians will lead in singing familiar Christmas carols that everyone is urged to join in and sing along. Truly a heart warming experience for all ages, the Las Posadas Candlelight Walk will be an evening you will cherish forever. Dress warm so you can enjoy the entire evening.

Sutter Creek, with all of its classic Holiday charm, will rekindle the Spirit of Christmas in your heart. Come and enjoy these free events. For more information call (209) 267-1344 or visit www.suttercreek.org.

Christmas at Northminster

Northminster Presbyterian Church, located at 3235 Pope Avenue, Sacramento, is gearing up for the holiday season and invites everyone to join in the following special Christmas activities.

Advent Craft Faire - Saturday, December 3, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

It's a family fun day of "Make and Take" free Christmas crafts including ornaments, charm bracelets, Gingerbread houses and Christmas centerpieces. Materials and assistance are provided free by Santa's helpers. Enjoy a light lunch served at noon. All ages are welcome.

The Jazz Music from A Charlie Brown Christmas - Sunday, December 4, 1 p.m.

Renowned Jazz musician Jim Martinez has been recently named A "Steinway Artist," one of the most distinguished honors that a pianist can achieve. Other artists receiving this distinction include Leonard Bernstein, Billy Joel and Van Claiborne. He will recreate the music from A Charlie Brown Christmas for a fun-filled, very child friendly concert. Tickets are $10/Adults, $5/children.

The Long Christmas Dinner - Friday, December 9, 8 p.m. and Saturday, December 10, 2 and 8 p.m.

The Northminster Players present their first production of Thornton Wilders' "Long Christmas Dinner," directed by Brian Frishman. The play depicts 100 years of the Bayard family Christmas dinner, breaking the boundaries of time as one measures it, and inviting the audience to share in one long happy Christmas dinner; past, present and future. The audience will experience family stories told and retold in this serious and tender play lightened with the humor of Wilders' understanding of the human character. Tickets are $10/Adults, $5/Students.

Jesus Birthday Party - Friday, December 16, 7 p.m.

Celebrate the true meaning of the season. Enjoy The Christmas Story, followed by ice cream and birthday cake, piñata, and games. Special features will include music by the Children's Choir, Youth Praise Band and Children's Orchestra. Attendees are invited to bring an unwrapped gift for an underserved child in the community.

Christmas Eve Service - Saturday, December 24, 5 p.m.

A special family service of candlelight and lessons and carols. The Children's Choir and Praise Band will be sharing in the music. Come and experience a Living Nativity with a donkey, sheep, goats, and the Holy Family. Come celebrate this Holy Night!

A Simple Emigrant Christmas

n Saturday, December 10, step back in time to holidays past with festive, hands-on activities such as stringing popcorn and cranberries, candle dipping and crafting paper cut-out ornaments when Sutter's Fort State Historic Park presents "Hands on History: A Simple Emigrant Christmas." Friends and families are encouraged to visit the Fort, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., to enjoy docents in period attire as they interpret and demonstrate a variety of early holiday traditions and cultural activities similar to what early emigrants did in the 1840s. For instance, docents will help demonstrate and share holiday traditions from Germany, Scandinavia, Mexican California, England, and Russia. In fact, Sutter's Fort was one of California's early gathering places where people from around the world passed through the gates and shared differing holiday traditions, many of which are still celebrated today. Don't miss the special "A Simple Emigrant Christmas" for one day only this December.

Admission is $6 per adult, $4 per youth (ages 6-17), free for children 5 years and under.

Sutter's Fort is located at 2701 L Street, Sacramento. For more information call (916) 445-4422 or visit www.parks.ca.gov/suttersfort

Christmas Memories

6 et ready to experience lavishly re-created period décor, an impressive array of live holiday music and captivating storytellers during two upcoming special "Christmas Memories" events at the Governor's Mansion State Historic Park. Surrounded by docents in period costume, Mansion visitors will be transported back in time to the very place where thirteen of California's early governors and their families lived, spent Christmas seasons and shared holiday traditions. In fact, then-Governor Edmund G. Brown and his family were the last first-family to celebrate Christmas in the stately mansion. And, to add to the festive activities, Mr. and Mrs. Claus will make special visits to the Mansion to meet excited little ones and be available for holiday photographs.

Christmas Memories will be held December 3 and 10, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The Governor's Mansion State Historic Park is located at 1526 H Street, Sacramento. Admission is $6 for adults, $4 for youth (ages 6-17), children five and under are free. For more information, call (916) 323-5916 www.parks.ca.gov/ governorsmansion

First 5 Sacramento offers its top 5 parenting tips for winter season

Rolidays, weather and current economic conditions are among the seasonal challenges families with children ages zero to five may face.

While the winter months traditionally usher in holiday celebrations, seasonal cheer and fun activities for many, this time of year can also create stress and concerns for others. To help families with children ages zero to five cope with challenges they may face this winter season, First 5 Sacramento is providing its Top 5 parenting tips along with some valuable resources where people can get support.

The stress of the holidays, the seasonal weather change, and the down economy can add strain for parents, shorten their patience and test their parenting skills. First 5 Sacramento offers the following effective parenting tips to help relieve stress while investing in your child's growth: • Take time out for yourself – go somewhere safe until you feel calmer.

• Build a support network of family and friends.

• Be consistent and create routines – kids need structure.

• Simplify routines during stressful times – for example, set out school clothes the night before.

• Take care of yourself – exercise, rest and eat well. Model these positive behaviors for your children.

Research shows that when parents have the right tools and get the advice they need, children have the best opportunities in life to be fulfilled, healthy citizens. First 5 Sacrmaneto's goal is to prevent crises from happening and protect children from events that can disrupt their developmental cycle."

First 5 Sacramento offers resources on a variety of topics including effective parenting, breastfeeding, nutrition, school readiness for children ages zero to five, crisis intervention and more. The organization also works with community partners to increase support of parenting services available to families in the area. Among those is 2-1-1 Sacramento, a free, confidential phone line with information on community, health and social services.

2-1-1 Sacramento offers a one-stop source of information for community services and resources. By dialing 2-1-1, callers can receive personalized information from a live resource specialist about programs and services to help families in many different ways, ranging from access to healthcare or learning effective ways to discipline your children. 2-1-1 is confidential and available in more than 150 languages.

About First 5 Sacramento

Research shows that a child's brain develops most dramatically in the first five years and what parents and caregivers do during these years to support their child's growth will have a meaningful impact throughout life. Based on this research, California voters passed Proposition 10 in 1998, adding a 50 cents-per-pack tax on tobacco products to support programs for expectant parents and children ages zero to five. In the last year, First 5 Sacramento distributed approximately $14 million a year in Prop 10 revenues to programs and services that meet local needs. Each county has a First 5 Children and Families Commission providing unique local services for that county. Surrounding First 5's include: First 5 Yolo: 530-669-2475; First 5 Placer: 530-745-1304; and First 5 El Dorado: 530-672-8298.

fun ideas for an Art Party Birthday

Mix and match these ideas to create your own special party.

Invitation Ideas for an Art Party

• Make invitations for an Art Party in black and white coloring book design and attach a crayon so birthday party guests can color in the Art invitation.

Have your child color a picture on the front of blank note cards, then send through the printer to add the birthday information on the inside.
Or use any brightly colored pre-made invitation.

Art Party Decorations

• Attach large sheets of white butcher block paper to cover the be sitting. On the white paper scatter pens, pencils, markers and color crayons around the table and ask them to color where they will be sitting.

• Use empty paint cans to hold flatware.

table(s) where the children will

• Set out large artist palettes with a different colored candy (skittles or M&M's work great) in each place on the palette.

• Use artist palettes for plates.

• Buy several different packages of solid colors plates, napkins, cups and flatware and mix and match them around the birthday cake table.

• Tie brightly colored helium balloons on the back of each chair around the table and tie with several different colors of curling ribbon.

• Tie brightly colored helium balloons to the mailbox.

• Large crayons (the big plastic crayola banks), large paint brushes (string mops) and posters. Fun Idea: Ask your local hardware store for aprons or find inexpensive aprons at a craft store. Use to keep clothes clean and also as a party favor they can decorate and take home. Art Party Games Paint the nose on the clown - Draw or print out a large poster size clown. Place a large round white circle where his nose is. Assign each party guest a different color paint. Blindfold them one at a time and them have them try and paint a nose on the clown in their color. The birthday party guest who gets the closest to the nose wins a prize.

Play Dough sculptures - Give each child a small can of play dough. Tell them that they will be sculpting different things that are birthday related ... but they only have 1 minute to make their sculpture. Call out a birthday item and have all the kids sculpt that item within 1 minute. Then have them mash their creations into a ball and call out another birthday item. Some fun birthday items for the kids to sculpt are: birthday cake, candle, cupcake, number (age of the birthday child), balloon, ice cream in a bowl. etc.

Art Party Activities Art Centers - Set up several Art centers around the art party area. Some fun Art center ideas are: Dart Paintings - Pin balloons filled with paint on canvases and let the party guests throw darts at the balloons to pop them. Have one large canvas that the birthday child can hang up in their room after the Art party or use smaller canvases and let each party guest take their masterpiece home as a party favor after the party.

Sidewalk Chalk - Set out several containers filled with sidewalk chalk on a paved surface and let the party guests make their own sidewalk art. For fun you can also set out spray bottles filled with water (for erasing) and items to trace around.

Painting - Hang up large poster boards on fences or walls. Give each poster station a set of watercolors, a brush, small container of water and paintbrushes.

Paint Can Glam - Ask your local paint or home improvement store for empty paint cans. Let party guests decorate the outside with paint pens or stickers. Use these as goody bags to hold party favors after the Art party.

Masterpiece Copy - Choose a famous painting and make a color copy of it. Cut the copy into different pieces and label them 1, 2, 3, 4 ... etc. on the back. Buy several canvases and also number them on the back. Give party guests a piece of the masterpiece art copy and a canvas. Ask them to paint their piece of canvas to match the smaller copy piece. When they are done put the pieces together and show them the finished masterpiece.

Bead Bracelets - Make colorful art bracelets from beads. Let the party guests take them home as a party favor.

Picture Frames - Decorate picture frames with foam stickers, paint and stick on jewels.

Finger Paints - Cover tables with large sheets of butcher paper. Set out differnt colors of finger paints, brushes and sponges and let them experiment with the finger paints.

Play Doh - Set out cans of Play Doh, rolling pins and cookie cutters. Let the guests create freely or give them objects to copy such as a party hat, birthday cake or birthday card.

Art Party Food Ideas

Instead of birthday cake - Let the kids create their own works of art by serving birthday cookies they can ice and decorate themselves, or serve birthday party sundaes with lots of toppings they can make to order, or individual birthday party cakes the kids can ice and decorate themselves.

Set up a cupcake decorating station and let the kids decorate their own cupcakes. Supply lots of different kinds of frostings, sprinkles, candies and writing gel.

Kool-aid or Sprite - For a fun Art Party experiment mix Sprite or water with a little food coloring in the primary colors of red, yellow and blue in 3 separate pitchers. With these colors you can mix drinks for party guests in any color of the rainbow. Green = yellow + blue, Orange = red

+ yellow, Purple = blue + red. Masterpiece cupcakes - be-

Masterpiece cupcakes - before the party make small copies (about 2 x 3 inches) of famous paintings. Glue them onto toothpicks and place the toothpicks in already baked cupcakes. Display them on a cupcake stand.

Let the kids make food sculptures with baby carrots, cheeses, celery, olives, etc. - held together with toothpicks.

Art Party Favors

Aprons that the kids can decorate at the party. Art supplies - paint brushes, paper, pastels, small pads of drawing paper, markers or crayons. Art shaped candies, Play Dough mini cans, sidewalk chalk

Goody bags

Empty paint cans the kids can decorate, buckets or containers that will hold art supplies, apron with pockets - fill pockets with art supplies and fun art shaped candy.
