JFK football field and track, 'an absolute safety hazard'

Many of us remember Bill Murray in the role of Carl Spackler battling a gopher in the movie Caddyshack with hilarious results. But those in charge at Kennedy High School find themselves in a similar situation minus the laughter.

The school is in the process of drumming up support to make massive improvements to the school's football field and track. The field needs the most major improvements, according to Kennedy principal Chad Sweitzer.

The field, which is also used by both boys and girls soccer as well as rugby, has fallen into such a state of disrepair that head football coach Matt Costa called it "the worst field I have ever seen" and "almost hard to describe." Beyond the aesthetic eyesore that it has become, it is first and foremost a safety issue for the school's athletes. Costa said that he has lost several players this year to twisted ankles caused by stepping in the gopher holes.

"I have huge concerns for our players," Costa said. "And not just for the football team or our opponents, but also the other teams who use the field for other sports." He went on to call the field "an absolute safety hazard" and a "liability issue." It has gotten so bad, according to Costa, that referees have considered calling off games more than once because the field was unfit to host the game.

Sweitzer has formed a committee of parents at the school to try and raise money for the field improvements that will include bringing in large quantities of dirt to crown the field as well as seed to re-grow the grass on top of it.

A football field is not flat from sideline-tosideline as it might appear. The middle section of the field is raised about a foot higher than the sidelines to help with drainage. That mid-dle section is called the crown. Sweitzer said that he is confident that the field has not been crowned in over a decade.

In addition to the field improvements, the track needs to be leveled as well to insure safe running conditions for the track athletes. There has been a high number of shin splints reported because of the poor track conditions as well, according to Sweitzer.

In the short term Sweitzer hopes to raise between $20,000-$25,000 for minimal and essential improvements like crowning the field, dealing with the gopher infestation and dragging the track in order to level it. He hopes that bonds Q and R on the November ballot will one day free up some money for the school, but in the meantime the school has all forms of fundraisers on the table in order to raise money.

The end goal would be to one day raise enough money to build a new sports complex like that of the new Titan Stadium at Sacramento's Burbank High School. While there are no fundraisers set at the moment, Sweitzer said that a crab feed or steak dinner fundraiser in the coming months could help bring in a substantial amount of money.

For more information about the progress of the athletic improvements, or to inquire about donations and fundraising opportunities, you can call the school at 916-433-5200 or e-mail principal Sweitzer at chad-sweitzer@scusd. edu. Kennedy High School is located at 6715 Gloria Dr. in Sacramento.

Estate Planning Tax Increases Scheduled January 1, 2013!

The current estate and gift tax laws are due to expire on December 31, 2012. What this means is that estate and gift tax rates are set to go up, while the amounts protected (exempt) from these taxes are scheduled to go down. That's the bad news.

The good news is there are several strategies available to offset this tax increase, but they must be

Teens spent 28 days in East African nation this summer

The Pocket News

Eight C.K. McClatchy High School students spent 28 days this summer in the East African nation of Rwanda, three of whom are from the Pocket area -- Marisa Fong, Kendyl Ito, and Sierra Brown.

The students participated in the AfriPeace Youth Peace and Cultural Education Program, which provides young adults with opportunities to learn about Áfrican culture, history and society while performing humanitarian work.

This is the fifth year CKM has worked with AfriPeace to build a bridge to better global understanding for students.

"I really enjoy these trips because I get to see the students react to and then embrace Africa," said teacher-guide Jeremy Predko, Sacramento City Unified School District's Coordinator of Instructional Technology, who has led four of the five past trips to Africa.

"I enjoy hearing them talk about how friendly, giving and generous the people they meet are," Predko said. "They are shocked to meet people who have so little but can give so much. I know the trip has been successful when, as the trip nears its end, the students want to stay for another month. Although they miss their family and friends, they want to continue their cultural immersion."

In prior AfriPeace trips, students visited Nigeria and Ghana. This year's trip to Rwanda presented a chance for students to experience a country reconciling itself to the aftermath of 1994's horrific genocide, which claimed the lives of an estimated 800,000.
